Stern College for Women

It is not for you to complete the work, לא עליך המלאכה לגמר, but neither are you free to desist from it; ולא אתה בן חורין להבטל ממנה;
Sayings of the fathers 2:21 פירקי אבות כ"א

Felicia: Rebecca, are you awake?
 Rebecca: Oh no, is it that time again?
 Felicia: Yup, it's time!
 Rebecca: The letter?
 Felicia: TONIGHT
 Rebecca: But what are we going to write about?
 Felicia: Well, I want it to be something meaningful . . .
 Rebecca: but funny,
 Felicia: and we should add a few words of Torah.
 Rebecca: and of course it has to have our special touch!
 Felicia: Ok, let's get started.
 Rebecca: To begin, we should thank Rachel, Shani, and Sharon for layout. They did a great job; there's no doubt. Naomi and Lisa for their figures, and Donna for her candid pictures.
 Felicia: Ellie for her funny wit and Shira for her ingenious lit.
 Rebecca: Marsha for her magic keys and all the rest of the committees!
 Felicia: What's next?
 Rebecca: Let's talk about our good times and our fond memories.
 Felicia: You mean the two a.m. singing and dancing in the street, "Mazel Tov, Mazel Tov!" And the walks across the street, and the walks across the street, and the walks across the street.
 Rebecca: And what about the all-nighters we put in?
 Felicia: With the non-stop munchies (from the walks across the street).
 Rebecca: Leading us to the Jane Fonda workout in the new exercise room.
 Felicia: And returning to the sporadically hot or cold showers.
 Rebecca: Don't forget about our favorite — those wonderfully, always working elevators! But seriously, the school really has grown with the vending cafe, the student lounge, and the new Stern gym (the purple one, the one we're allowed to use).

Felicia: So how do we finish up this letter?
 Rebecca: Well, we need to reflect on the experiences and education Y.U. has given us in preparing us for our roles as Jewish women . . .
 Felicia: . . . and how we've explored academic pursuits encompassing our traditional values . . .
 Rebecca: . . . while still meeting the challenges of the modern world.
 Felicia: (Whew, we made it through the serious part!) Boy, I'm sure going to miss it here.
 Rebecca: It's been a couple of wonderful years; how do we leave it all behind?
 Felicia: Hey, what about some Divrai Torah?
 Rebecca: Ok, how about this — "In the beginning, 100 years ago, Bernard Revel founded Yeshiva University. A few days later, Bernard thought to himself, 'In today's modern, Torah-U-Mada world, when everyone is looking for equal rights, I have to establish an institution for the women.' So on the sixth day, Bernard created Stern College for Women. The rest is history."
 Felicia: Not bad, Rebecca. Now let's just wish everyone "Hatzlachah Raba".

Wishing you the best and brightest of it all

Love,

Rebecca & Felicia

P.S. We want to say a special thanks to:
 Mrs. Zuroff — for her patience
 I6E and I6B — for putting up with it all David and Steven — for all their participation and of course, Mark!

Yeshiva University / Office of the President

October 22, 1986

TO THE STERN COLLEGE CLASS OF 1987:

I offer my warmest congratulations to you, students of the first Stern College for Women graduating class of the second century in the life of Yeshiva University.

You enter a world that is considerably different from the one which existed when you began your educational careers as first graders. And it is at least equally different from the one which will confront your children when they begin going to school. The old truism remains unimpeachable: Flux is the law of life, change is ubiquitous.

But all through these social vicissitudes, technological changes, and cultural transformations, you will be armed, as a result of the dual education you received at Stern College, with both the ability to accommodate constant changes and the talent for identifying and adhering to that which is changeless, eternal, and enduring in life.

The Madda you learned here will equip you to ride the crests of change. The Torah will be the faithful and unchanging star which will guide you unerringly wherever fate takes you.

May the Almighty grant that you find health, longevity, success, meaning, and creativity in the homes you will build and the careers you will pursue, and that you always return to your alma mater prepared to share your time, talent, and substance with those who follow you at Stern College for Women.

Good luck!

Cordially yours,

NORMAN LAMM
President

Dear Graduates,

Over the years Stern College for Women has been setting its sights ever higher and its reach ever farther. We can all rightly be proud that our Jewish Studies program, the foundation of our educational mission, has an intellectual vigor that engages the searching mind and soul; that our general studies curriculum truly focuses on the central and pivotal concerns of Western Civilization, that our career tracks provide the incisive skills needed for achievement in the professions. However to grow from this position of strength toward greater goals requires careful thought, planning and above all the setting of priorities. We truly hope we can count on you, our graduates, to help with this task.

Similarly I feel justly proud of your personal accomplishments. As a group you are well educated and articulate. More importantly you have internalized the values of our heritage and have demonstrated in word and deed your respect for learning and your deep concern for your fellow-man. However what was relatively easy to achieve in the confines of our College may not be so easily maintained in a changing world. If I were to offer my advice to you at this critical time it would be to set your priorities carefully. Choose goals worth attaining. Fight battles worth winning. Spend your precious time on meaningful activities and with meaningful people. Improve yourself and improve the world. This is a formidable task, but then you are a talented group of women.

On behalf of the faculty and staff I wish you much success. May you go from strength to strength in all your undertakings.

Sincerely,

Sam Baron

Dear Graduates,

As Yeshiva University, after one hundred years of existence, continues to progress from strength to strength, Stern College women are proclaiming a desire for unparalleled standards of academic excellence. Although much praise has been forthcoming as those goals are being realized, much criticism has been levelled, almost arbitrarily, against administrators, faculty and fellow students for tolerating anything less than excellence. Such criticism often merely veils an unwillingness on the part of an individual to extend herself and to invest the energies required to attain excellence. To shift the blame is to deny one's responsibility.

During the past four years you have grown and matured. You have had the opportunity to be challenged — to investigate issues, research theories and to probe inner truths stripped of their facades. In an environment of Torah education and practice you have progressed in your observance of mitzvot.

"הנה" את המצוות הללו ואת כל המצוות אשר צונו לומר

The mitzvot were given to "purify" Israel. Through your heightened levels of observance you have improved your qualities, strengthened your character and developed greater self-control. It is our hope that the keen awareness and self-discipline you have acquired will ensure that you continually strive toward greater heights. For introspection and real growth result in the internal development of standards. Standards that are met and maintained, not because they are imposed from without, but because they emanate from within.

May you set for yourselves high standards of academic achievement, community responsibility, personal behavior and integrity and, above all, have the courage and determination to pursue them. "Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?"

Sincerely,

Ethel Orlian

Dear Graduates,

It is with a deep sense of pride and great pleasure that I congratulate you upon your graduation from Stern College for Women. You have experienced first-hand a curriculum of Torah u-Mada which has hopefully impacted upon your minds and upon your lives.

More important than the intellectual growth that you have achieved here is the continued development that I trust you will experience in the years ahead. The Jewish Studies faculty has taught you how to study Jewish texts and how these texts are relevant and meaningful to you as Jewish women. It is up to you to take these postulates and methodologies and use them as productively as you can.

Set aside time to study each day, each week as you pursue your chosen professions and personal goals. Share your knowledge with others. Above all, bear in mind the Mishnaic dictum: "Ehad ha-marbeh ve-ehad ha-mam'it u-bilvad she-yekhavin libbo la-shamayim."

Sincerely yours,

Ephraim Kanarfogel

Dear Graduates:

We find in the Torah a Posuk which describes our forefather Avrohom Avinu. It states (Gen. 24:1) "And Avrohom grew old and came into days and G-d blessed him with everything."

The question that is posed is, how is one blessed with everything in this world? To answer this question the Yalkut Shimoni (Gen. 103) quotes a Posuk from Proverbs (31:25) "Strength and dignity are her clothing and she laugheth at the time to come". The Yalkut interprets the verse "and her clothing" as "zeh levusho shel Torah" as referring to the mantle of learning, the garments of knowledge.

What the Yalkut is teaching us is that what kept Avrohom Avinu young, what enabled him to feel blessing with everything in creation was his unbelievable dedication to learning Torah. It was his thirst for the word of G-d that enabled him to continuously grow spiritually. It was this type of constructive activity that allowed him to fully appreciate both G-d and man's respective roles in creation and the maintenance of the world to the point that everything in this world had meaning and significance for him and ultimate blessing.

It is this unique Abrahamic tradition that has spearheaded Yeshiva University's first hundred years of unbelievable achievement and it is this tradition that will allow it to flourish in the future as well.

As graduates of Stern College you have been handed on a silver platter this legacy of Avrohom Avinu. You have been taught by great Torah Scholars both how to analyze the intricacies of our Torah as well as how to apply them to your daily life in our society.

It is my hope and fervent prayer that you will utilize this knowledge in a constructive and challenging fashion on both a personal and communal level so that you will likewise derive blessing from everything in creation. Wishing you much Mazel, Brocha, and success in all your future endeavors, I remain.

Respectfully yours,

Rabbi Tzvi Flaum

This page is in memory of our beloved friend and classmate Frani Stein. The articles below were written by her close friends who wanted to share a little bit of Frani with each of us. May the memory of her warm smiles, her giving nature, and her true sincerity continue to live on in our hearts.

זכרנו אותך... (הנה) ...

"To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the sun ... "

"A time to be born ... "

When Frani came into our lives she brought us all happiness, good times to remember — a friend we could all count on.

"A time to laugh ... "

When she laughed she lit up the whole world with joy. Even when she became ill she was still able to laugh and bring happiness to family and friends.

"A time to embrace ... "

She embraced us in many ways; a physical hug, a touch on the shoulder, a handful of words, her special smile. She touched everything and everyone with love.

"A time to love ... "

Anything that was important to us was important to Frani. She expressed her love in many ways to so many different people. She loved and respected each person for who they were.

Everyone who knew Frani knew the deep love that she felt for her family. Her family was everything to her, and she expressed her love for them to everyone she knew.

She put her heart and soul into her "cooters" (her niece and nephews), and she found so much joy in their achievements. This joy was not limited to her niece and nephews but extended to all children. It was this love that made her choose early-childhood education.

"A time to weep ... "

Oh how we loved her too ... People around the world showed their love in her time of need; through prayer, tzedakah, learning in her Zchus, and some through tears.

"A time to die ... "

Everyone is put in this world for a purpose. In Frani's short time with us she touched more people in more ways than some people ever accomplish.

We thank God for the time we were blessed with her. We will carry with us throughout our lives the wonderful memories we have of Frani.

Frani (z'l), you were so very special, and so very loved. You were so soft in your manner, yet so strong in your faith and determination. Everything you said and did was filled with care and love. You were so giving and warm, and so much fun to be with.

We helped each other through so much, and had so very many good times together. We grew closer and closer each day. Our friendship was the light of my life and the center of my being. You were the best friend anyone could ever ask for.

We both agreed that our friendship was not a matter of proximity, for it transcended space and the physical distance between us. That was not only when you were in Cincinnati and I was in New York ... Our friendship, our love, and our memories live on inside me for now, for always, and forever.

"As we go down life's lonesome highway seems the hardest thing to do is to find a friend or two
That helping hand
Someone who understands
When you feel you've lost your way
You've got someone there to say
I'll show you ...

Say you, Say me
Say it together ...
Say it for always"
Lionel Richie

New to each other, yet friends from the start
No longer lonely, rarely seen apart

Both from Ohio with accents — best friends
New classes, new people, new fashions, new trends

Frani — a best friend, a sister, a real inspiration
Caring and comforting, there for me in any situation

We shared laughter, we shared tears
Growing all the closer, together overcoming our fears

Accomplishments, disappointments, dates and more fun
Inside jokes, nicknames — oh, how we laughed a ton

Beautiful, intelligent, sentimental — all in one Considerate, patient, conscientious — just to name some

Most of all — your love and your care so special to me
Now remains in my heart as an endless memory

After three great years — what do I say to Frani and "E" now apart?
I can only say "Thank-You" best friend, for I love you eternally from the bottom of my heart!

All my Love Always,
"E"-laine

I love you, Frani (z'l), for always and forever.

"אני רוצה לומר לך ולכל מי שמכיר אותך..."

On May 12 Yeshiva College's Commentator printed a beautiful poem in memory of our dear friend Scott Satran. With Jakob Goldstein's permission, we have reprinted it so we can remember what a good and loving friend Scott was to us all.

"Hello Ball!" I can hear him now, standing up in the Queens College Cafeteria doing his best Ed Norton. This is just one of the many ways I remember my friend. Scott Satran, the bravest person I have ever met, lost his battle to cancer on March 25th. If the cure for cancer was sheer guts and strength, not only would Scott have won, but he would have had enough left over for every cancer patient in the world. The Satrans' relationship with each other is a very rare occurrence. I've never seen a boy who loved his family quite as much as Scott, and I've never seen a family love back, quite like the Satrans did. Anyone who knows them, knows exactly what I mean when I say they deserved one another.

So Wednesday night (actually early morning), I found myself sitting in the near empty Beis Midrash, wondering what Scott was doing now. I think we all knew that Scott was on such a level that he went straight to heaven, but I was curious as to what was happening there. So in my mind, I traveled up to heaven, and with the help of Hashem, this is what I saw.

The Trumpets were blown and the lights had turned bright it was like no other time
up in heaven that night
The word spread quickly and soon everyone knew it had finally come
it was finally true
It was heard by the sun and the stars and the moon that the "miracle boy" would be arriving here soon
Then the voice heard throughout shook the walls and the floor
it was the voice of Hashem that made the thunderous roar
"He will be here tonight
so let us prepare because time's running short we've not a moment to spare"
And so all of the angels began to move fast
for they knew that tonight was to be a big blast
And they all worked so hard because never before had a boy such as this ever walked through that door
And so now it was time for this boy to appear this brave, fearless boy whom the world held so dear

Then the moment had come with not a voice to be heard all noise had vanished
not a sound, not a word Than all of a sudden the door moved ajar
and if you looked really hard you could see from afar.
For what appeared to be small just continued to grow and in just a few moments
we would finally know Just who was this boy
of just twenty years
who created on earth
an ocean of tears
And then in a flash
he came into sight
and as he stepped through the door
the room filled with light
And behold there he stood with a smile so wide that the hidden elation
we could no longer hide
The cheers burst out
as did dancing and song
he had finally come for the wait was so long
He was lifted up high and carried atop with the cheers growing louder
it seemed it never would stop

And then all of a sudden the angels divided and an aisle of angels
for Scott, was provided

All at once it grew silent as he started his stride towards the throne of Hashem where his destiny lied
He ascended the steps and for the first time
we've known a miraculous sight;
Hashem arose from his throne
Then all throughout heaven
the voice of Hashem could be heard it was gentle and soft as he spoke every word

"I am proud to announce and I'm happy to say that our newest of angels has come here today"
"And they'll know throughout heaven and they'll know throughout earth that this day of the angels was the day of your birth"

"So from now till forever
I would like to declare that "The Angel of Courage" shall be the title you wear"
"And now you'll be given any wish you desire and this wish shall be granted

no matter what it requires"

Then everything stopped and as heaven grew still he stated his wish which Hashem would fulfill
"If there could just be a way from way up here above to send down a message for my family I love"
"I would like them to know that I'm happy up here
I now live with Hashem
so you have nothing to fear
"I am perfectly fine
so please no more tears
and for now just remember our memory years"
"For I'll see you again
and it won't be too long the Mashiaich will come so you have to stay strong"
"And I'd like you to know our times I will treasure
oh I miss you so much
I will love you forever"
So as he looked down from heaven in a moment he knew for the Angel of Courage saw his wish had come true

I will not take credit for this poem, I will only acknowledge the fact that through this poem, Hashem used me as a Shaliach, to grant Scott, the Angel of Courage, his wish.

With Love
Jakob Goldstein

SENIORS IN CELEBRATION

In retrospection on our years at Stern College, it seems like it was just yesterday that we were naive freshmen. We were fresh to life in the "big City", and to the demands of college life.

Our choice to come to Stern makes a statement about who we are and the way we wish to lead our lives. The Stern College student is unique. She is someone desirous to help others through her knowledge of Judaism and of the world. May our lives reflect this, and be filled with the positive attributes of Torah U'Mada, which we learned during our academic careers. These intellectual and spiritual standards will be of great benefit and service to us as we pursue our careers and build our families.

The contribution of the faculty and administration toward our growth and development is greatly appreciated and will be carried with us throughout our lives.

I would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a hearty Mazal Tov on graduation and much luck with all future endeavours.

1987 תשמ"ז

Finally graduation is here. Our goals are beginning to take the form of realities. The long awaited moment in which we will step out into "the world" has arrived. Along with this move comes a responsibility to the members of the society in which we live. Our Avot recognized this responsibility and are therefore called "yesharim", or upright, according to the Netziv in his introduction to Sefer Bereishit. They merited this name because they respected all men, regardless of their religious beliefs. Sefer Bereishit is named Sefer Ha Yashar, after this important character trait, because it is this trait which ensures the existence of the world. As graduates of Stern College, may we continue to live lives that reflect these goals, instilled in us by our institution.

MEDSCI Sponsors Nuclear Arms Symposium

by Sharon Halevy

"Great Responsibility in the Nuclear Age" was the theme of a symposium sponsored by MEDSCI, Stern College for Women, Yeshiva University.

Dr. Yehuda Rabin, a nuclear physicist, said that while he does think that the Russian people don't want nuclear war, and that it is very necessary to involve them in the education of the arms race.

A similar viewpoint was presented by Dina Yalow, a Nobel Laureate and a Professor Emerita at Yeshiva University and the Solomon A. Binstock Professor at Large, Yeshiva Hospital. She is not pro nuclear war. She said that the arms race is not a reality, because of the effect of the "mass hysteria" surrounding the word "nuclear" on the community. The misinterpretation which pervades the world of everything "nuclear" is a threat for her to dispose of the arms race. In a newspaper

Ghostly

You smiled at me yesterday
I mean really smiled
when I told you that the ghost in Hamlet was really Hamlet himself.
I felt your smile the whole day and when I closed the light to sleep it lit the whole room.
I think I may read some more.

But tell me one more thing
before I see you in my dreams.
Are you a ghost yourself?
For you slip through my fingers whenever I get near.

STERN DORM

(sung to the tune of Country Road by John Denver)

Almost heaven 34th Street
50 East where Y.U. and Stern girls meet.
All alone here on a Thursday night,
Oh Mr. Cosby will you hear my plight.

Chorus:

Oh Stern Dorm where I roam
Oh Stern dorm is my home,
New York City, down from Macy's,
Oh Stern dorm is my home.

Life is great here gotta catch the train
On my way to Y.U. where I'm gonna meet my man.
Out the window I hear voices from outside,
I listen to that singing for the groom and the bride.
Starting to get hungry I need to get some food,
Have to go through the crowd, gosh I'm really not in the mood.

(chorus:)

Got my sweatpants and my makeup's on just so,
All I need is my pearls and I am set to go.
Waited hours for the elevator, it's finally on my floor,
Girls screaming there's no room, as I watch the closing door.

(chorus:)

Guess I'll just stay in my old room tonight,
My T.V. with me so I will be alright.
I'll talk on the phone and on my bed I'll wait,
For my roomies to come and tell me about their dates.

(chorus:)

Thursday night is over, I made it through my first one,
It really wasn't that bad, in fact I had some fun.
I think I'm gonna like it here, Stern College is for me,
And if I get unhappy, I'll hustle over to Macy's!

The office lost your records you can't get into class,
You're bored with all the learning you just want to pass.
You're sitting in the same seat for an hour and a half,
you're stomach starts to grumble so you head for the caf.
Standing in line, it's really getting tough,
you survey all the food and it's all tomato stuff.
You settle for a muffin 'cuz that is all you saw,
and then you start to eat it and you realize it's raw.
You search for your friends but the Mechitzahs are in the way,
They say there might even be some plants on them one day.
My day at Stern College has been a hectic one, Thank goodness it's finally over and all my work is done.
I'll miss the fun at Stern when I graduate in May,
but I know the thing I won't miss, is the gross tuna soufflé.

Kelly & Shelly went to Delicious — Deli
because they wanted to be fed.
But when they got there the cupboards were bare so they went to Food Emporium instead.

Shari, Shari, quite contrary
How does your wardrobe grow?
With credit cards and personal checks and 10 Benettons all in row.

Rub a dub dub
I jump into the tub
I need to take a shower or I'll die but hot H<sub>2</sub>O's not the norm especially in the dorm
so all I can do is cry.

Hickory Dickory Dock
What time is it on the clock?
It's 7:30, here comes the van hop on to search for a man
Hickory Dickory Dock.

Millions of immigrants arriving in New York at the turn of the 20th century possessed dreams for better lives. One was Bernard Revel, who aspired for even more. He envisioned the formation of Yeshiva University, for secular and religious studies to be combined into a curriculum to meet the needs of the Jewish people seeking to adopt and contribute to their new homeland.

Revel's vision became a reality in Yeshiva University. He was President of Yeshiva from its beginning in 1886 until his death in 1940 and guided it to international prominence.

A one dollar stamp honoring Dr. Bernard Revel, scholar and educator, was issued on September 23, 1986 in New York City. The dedication ceremony was held in Koch auditorium. The stamp was issued in conjunction with the Centennial of Yeshiva University.

NEW YORK, N.Y. 10001

A tribute was paid to Mrs. Esther Zur-off, Director of Student Services, on Wednesday, April 29th who will be retiring in June after 30 years of devoted service in Stern. The cocktail reception, sponsored by the Stern College Alumnae Association was held in Koch auditorium.

Mrs. Zur-off was presented with bound volumes of letters from students and family and friends, a collage of photos from her thirty years at Stern and a friendship quilt from the student clubs, activities and administration.
